94	DET	Gedun Gyatso		M	CECC: Based on a TCHRD prisoner list, on April 5, 2008, security officials detained a number of Ngulra Monastery monks, including Gedun Gyatso, in Ngulra township, Maqu (Machu) county, Gannan (Kanlho) TAP, Gansu province. International Campaign for Tibet (ICT) and BBC reports described protests in Ngulra on March 16 and 17. A Tibetan told BBC of a candlelight vigil. ICT described peaceful political protest activity (shouting slogans, displaying the Tibetan flag) and violent activity (attacking government offices and vehicles). ICT reported on April 9 that about 30 of 95 persons (including monks) detained in Ngulra had been released. Xinhua reported on April 9 that officials released 1,870 of 2,644 Tibetans who surrendered to police or were detained by them for alleged rioting in Gannan. No information is available about Gedun Gyatso's protest activity, whether or not police released him, his place of detention, or criminal charges, if any, against him.

Note that this prisoner list is not comprehensive. Due to China's attempts to prevent information reaching the outside world and the climate of fear in Tibet today it has not been possible to ascertain full details and names of those detained since March 2008. This list is a minimal and conservative number. Further details, including of prisoners serving sentences imposed before March 2008 are included in ICT's accompanying document, the Prisoner File (see: www.savetibet.org/action-center/current-ict-campaigns/political-prisoners). It has also not been possible to include Tibetan names with this list – these will be added as the list is updated.

158	DET	Kalsang	25	M	CECC: Based on a TCHRD prisoner list, on March 23, 2008, security officials in Zhuoni (Chone) county, Gannan (Kanlho) TAP, Gansu province, detained at least 25 Akhor Monastery monks for protesting on an unspecified date. It is not clear, however, whether "Akhor" is the correct name of the monastery. The Tibetan Government-in-exile reported that officials detained "many" monks of Chone's Tashi Choeling Monastery after they protested peacefully on March 23. China Digital Times reported that on March 16 monks protested at "many" Gannan TAP monasteries, including in Zhuoni, but that there were no "clashes;" on March 17, however, protesting students broke shop windows. Reuters reported that Zhuoni protesters damaged official buildings and property in "mid-March." Xinhua reported rioting during protests on March 14-19 in six Gannan counties, including Zhuoni. Details are not available about Kalsang's protest activity, place of detention, or charges, if any, against him.
159	REL	Kalsang	40	M	Kalsang is a former Drepung monk and ex-political prisoner who served four years in Drapchi prison from 1989 to 1993. He travelled to India in 1996 and returned to Tibet in 1998 before going into business with his friend Ngawang Namgyal (also on this list) selling tea and milk. He was detained by the PSB at a friend's house in Lhasa.

Note that this prisoner list is not comprehensive. Due to China's attempts to prevent information reaching the outside world and the climate of fear in Tibet today it has not been possible to ascertain full details and names of those detained since March 2008. This list is a minimal and conservative number. Further details, including of prisoners serving sentences imposed before March 2008 are included in ICT's accompanying document, the Prisoner File (see: www.savetibet.org/action-center/current-ict-campaigns/political-prisoners). It has also not been possible to include Tibetan names with this list – these will be added as the list is updated.

342	SEN	Norbu Tsering	49	M	CECC: According to a November 5, 2008, Tibetan Centre for Human Rights and Democracy (TCHRD) report, public security officials in Ganzi (Kardze) county, Ganzi Tibetan Autonomous Prefecture, Sichuan province, detained Tibetan males including Norbu Tsering and Ngoga for participating in a political demonstration in the county seat on March 18, 2008. The detentions may have taken place on the day of the protest. According to a March TCHRD report, security personnel opened fire on the protesters, resulting in Tibetan fatalities and injuries. On October 30, the Kangding Intermediate People's Court, located in the prefectural capital, sentenced Norbu Tsering (age 49) and Ngoga (age 53) to 8 years and 9 years in prison respectively. According to a TCHRD source, Ngoga stated in court that the men had not committed any crimes against public property, but had only distributed leaflets, and that security officials had tortured him. Details about Ngoga and Norbu Tsering's place of imprisonment are not available. Sentenced October 30, 2008.	9

384	DET	Phurbu Tsering Rinpoche	52	M	Reported to ICT as Bhurangna Rinpoche; CECC: According to TCHRD and ICT, on May 14, 2008, more than 50 nuns of Pangri Nunnery, located in Ganzi (Kardze) county, Ganzi TAP, Sichuan province, set out on a protest march from the nunnery to the county government offices. They shouted slogans calling for Tibetan independence, the Dalai Lama's return to Tibet, and the Dalai Lama's long life. PSB and PAP personnel detained the nuns en route and beat some nuns severely. On May 18 or 19, officials detained Phurbu Tsering Rinpoche, a Tibetan reincarnated teacher who founded and headed Pangri nunnery and who was associated with Kardze Gepheling Monastery. He may have refused to cooperate with patriotic education instructors, according to RFA. The nuns were angered by patriotic education campaigns and demands by officials that the nuns denounce the Dalai Lama and (according to RFA) Phurbu Tsering. No details are available about Phurbu Tsering's site of detention or criminal charges (if any) against him.

Officials searched Rangjung's residence and confiscated items including a laptop computer, which they alleged contained political documents. Officials did not provide Rangjung's family members with any reason for his detention, but did say that he was being held at the Kardze TAP PSB Detention Center. Rangjung graduated from the Kardze TAP Teacher Training College and worked as a teacher before becoming a journalist with the Serthar television station. He has also written several books.

Note that this prisoner list is not comprehensive. Due to China's attempts to prevent information reaching the outside world and the climate of fear in Tibet today it has not been possible to ascertain full details and names of those detained since March 2008. This list is a minimal and conservative number. Further details, including of prisoners serving sentences imposed before March 2008 are included in ICT's accompanying document, the Prisoner File (see: www.savetibet.org/action-center/current-ict-campaigns/political-prisoners). It has also not been possible to include Tibetan names with this list – these will be added as the list is updated.

Note that this prisoner list is not comprehensive. Due to China's attempts to prevent information reaching the outside world and the climate of fear in Tibet today it has not been possible to ascertain full details and names of those detained since March 2008. This list is a minimal and conservative number. Further details, including of prisoners serving sentences imposed before March 2008 are included in ICT's accompanying document, the Prisoner File (see: www.savetibet.org/action-center/current-ict-campaigns/political-prisoners). It has also not been possible to include Tibetan names with this list – these will be added as the list is updated.

583	DET	Tsultrim Tenzin	74	M	CECC: Based on RFA, TCHRD, and China Digital Times reports, on April 3, 2008, public security officials detained 74 year-old monk Tsultrim Tenzin and 26 year-old lay person Tsultrim Phuntsog at Tongkor Monastery, located in Ganzi (Kardze) county, Ganzi TAP, Sichuan province. A "patriotic education" work team arrived at the monastery on April 2 and ordered the monks to denounce the Dalai Lama. The monks refused. On April 3, police and People's Armed Police arrived at Tongkor to search monastic quarters, confiscate cell phones, and remove or destroy photos of the Dalai Lama and Tongkor's head lama. Police detained Tsultrim Tenzin, who holds the title of Geshe, signifying the highest level of monastic academic achievement, when he tried to stop officials from throwing photos away. Later on April 3, PAP opened fire on monks and lay persons protesting the detentions, killing up to 15 persons. No details are available about the men's place of detention or criminal charges, if any, against them.
